ORDER
(Hybrid Mode)

06.05.2026: This appeal has been filed against an order dated 15.04.2026 passed by the adjudicating authority, by which order, adjudicating authority has reserved the order on I.A. (IBC) (Plan)/20(CH)/2024.

2. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that there were certain other applications, where orders were reserved earlier.

3. Be that as it may, the only order which is under challenge is the order reserving an order, we are of the view that at this stage no appeal can be entertained. It is always open for the appellant to take such remedy as available in law when the order is pronounced.

Appeal is dismissed.

Learned counsel for the appellant lastly contended that order may be passed for expeditiously deciding the matter.

We are of the view that when the orders have been reserved, no direction can be issued to the Court as prayed, therefore, we are not inclined to accept the prayer. Prayer is rejected.
